

About Us

As a major oil and gas producer and oilfield service provider in the world, CNPC has businesses covering oil and gas operations, oilfield services, engineering and construction, equipment manufacturing, financial services and new energy development. In 2018, CNPC ranked 3rd among the world's top 50 oil companies and 4th in the Fortune Global 500. The company has oil and gas assets and interests in 34 countries, and provides technical and construction services in more than 77 countries and regions.

CNPC commenced oil cooperation with Iraq in 1997, and resumed its presence in Iraq's oil and gas market in 2008 as foreign investment was granted access to the oil and gas industry in the country. CNPC's partners include British Petroleum (BP), State Oil Marketing Organization (SOMO), Missan Oil Company (MOC), Total, ExxonMobil and Petronas.

Corporate Philosophy

Corporate Citizenship Philosophy

For a company, fulfilling corporate social responsibility is not only a necessary path to economic, environmental and social sustainability, but also an inevitable choice for its sustainable development; it is not only an external requirement to adapt to socioeconomic development trends, but also an internal requirement to enhance its sustainability; it is not only an important way to change its development mode and achieve scientific development, but also a strategic requirement for its international operation.

Upholding the corporate mission of "Caring for Energy, Caring for You", we aim to achieve the organic unity of economic, environmental and social responsibilities, and strive to become an outstanding global corporate citizen with higher profitability, stronger influence, and a greater charisma to society. We have never relented in our efforts to fulfill our social responsibilities, adhere to legal operation, be honest and trustworthy, conserve resources and protect the environment, insist on the people-oriented principle and build a harmonious enterprise, in order to give back to society and realize value sharing.
